

Dr. Susan Savage

Dr. Susan Savage has over 30 years of research and evaluation experience and is currently the Director of Research at the Child Care Resource Center, a large human-service organization in California. CCRC's mission is to cultivate child, family and community well-being. The agency's research team include a highly diverse and skilled group of professionals who strive to ensure our work includes the communities we serve, ensuring our results have the greatest possible relevance and impact. Our work is action-based and policy-relevant for both local and large-scale change.